International Eucharistic Congress, June 2012

Next June the International Eucharistic Congress will take place in Dublin from the 10th to the 17th of June. This offers a great opportunity for us to celebrate and renew our faith in the Eucharist. Since this is such a big event, with many practicalities to be worked out, early planning is essential. Our Parishes of Naas, Sallins and Two Mile House are now looking at how we will participate in the event. There are different options offered to people if they wish to attend. We will try to outline these options as clear as possible here. We then ask people to reflect on these options and next week we will make available through our newsletter and website an application form if you wish to attend the event.

1. There are two venues; Most of the event will take place in the RDS in Dublin (10th-16th June). The final Mass will be celebrated in Croke Park, (17th June).
2. If you wish to attend the seven days and book before Nov. 30th, the cost amounts to €85 and an additional €10 to be eligible to request admission to the closing Mass in Croke Park.
3. You can attend for three days; Consecutive days between 10th – 16th June, again the cost before Nov 30th is €50, with an additional €10 to be eligible to request admission to attend the closing Mass in Croke Park.
4. The Kildare and Leighlin Diocesan Day is the Tuesday, so we would encourage people from the Diocese, who are planning on a three day participation, to attend the three days earlier in the week.
5. The final Mass in Croke Park is a separate event (except for those who have paid €10 before Nov. 30th and are eligible to request admission). Those wishing to attend Croke Park only will fill in an application at a later stage.
6. One day registration will be possible to book from January.
7. Costs increase after November 30th.

Please take time to reflect on how you might like to participate in the Congress. We will have an application form available next week. When we get an idea of numbers wishing to attend, practical details around transport will be looked at.
